

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

	PAGE
The sporting canoe of to-day developed from that of primitive races—Rob Roy McGregor—The Rob Roy canoe—The Canadian canoe—The cruising canoe—The sport of canoeing	1

CHAPTER II.

THE CANOE.

The hull—Definition of a canoe—Decked and open—The Rob Roy—The Ringleader—The Nautilus—The Pearl—Design—The racer—The cruiser—The R.C.C. rules and dimensions—The Canadian—Construction of canoes—The Sharpie—The Battledore —American racing canoes—Canoe-builders—Prices—The fast cruiser Cockyollybird	6
--	---

CHAPTER III.

PADDLES AND PADDLING.

The double-blade—Its use—The single-blade—Its use—Racing with the paddle	26
---	----

CHAPTER IV.

APPLIANCES AND FITTINGS.

	PAGE
Steering gear—The foot-yoke—Tiller and deck-yoke—The rudder—Centre-plates—Drop-keels—Cleats—Aprons—Hatches—Compartments—Air-bags—Bulkheads—Lockers—Bucket cockpits—Well-coamings—Deck-seat—Sliding seat—Ballast—Outriggers—Baler—Tabernacle—Anchor—Tow-rope—Lamp—Compass—Burgee—Canoe truck—Painter ...	33

CHAPTER V.

THE RIG.

Requirements of canoe sails—Main and mizzen—Spars—Cut and trim of sails—The mainsheet—The balance lug—The tanding lug—Bafters—The batwing—Sliding gunter—Leg of mutton—Sprit sail—Lateen—The mizzen—Batten reefing gear—Standing sails—Sail area	56
---	----

CHAPTER VI.

SAILING.

The below-deck method of sailing—The deck-seat position—The sliding-seat position—Peculiarities of canoe sailing—Running—Tending the mainsheet—Blanketing—The downhaul—Trim—Steering	72
---	----

CHAPTER VII.

CAPSIZING.

Accidental—When likely—Not dangerous—What to do when upset—Intentional capsizes—Upset races	93
--	----

CHAPTER VIII.

CANOE-YAWLS.

	PAGE
Definition of canoe-yawl—Comparison with canoe—And with small yachts—The cruising or heavy yawl—The Oxford yawl—Canoe-yacht—Rig—The Mersey yawl Tavie —The Humber yawl Ethel —The Oxford yawl Snake —Management of canoe-yawl	101

CHAPTER IX.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION.

Cruising—Where to go—What to take—To beach a canoe among waves—Monkeying—What is required—To stop a leak—To repair damage—The uses of lard—And of varnish—Rules of the road—Rules for racing—Carriage of canoes—Clubs—The British Canoe Association—Canoeing literature—The canoeist and photography	130
GLOSSARY	145
INDEX	149